CONSIDERATIONS WHEN FILLING OUT FINAL DAY ACTIVITIES

- Among the concerns/fears people express about dying include: being alone when they die, being vulnerable after being strong for so long, and many more listed here: <https://www.dyingmatters.org/page/TalkingAboutDeathDying>
- Fears I have when thinking about my death include:

- Given these concerns, are there actions on the last day - or before - to help ensure those fears aren't realized?
- Have I completed my Binder of a Lifetime (BoaL) and gone over it with my loved ones? [binder pages here: <http://www.longmemories.info/binder-of-a-lifetime-resources>]
 - Are there any BoaL "bucket list" items I want to do now?
 - It's enjoyable to share time with loved ones reviewing and laughing at some of the 100-200 pictures summarizing life
 - Any aspects of your At the End pages 1-5 require some discussion?
 - What about Key Info you need to review with trusted advisors?
 - Any Reflections warrant discussion?
- Which precious friends/family need to get my Four Things That Matter Most* conversation one last time?
- Any updates I want to make to my final email (if I've composed one) to friends/family?
- Any letters/cards/texts/emails to write?
- Any final calls to make?
- To do this for last week or last month, duplicate the previous page and fill it out for multiple days as you see fit
- LAST, BUT NOT LEAST: WHICH OF THESE ACTIVITIES COULD YOU DO NOW SO THAT YOU HAVE THE ENJOYMENT PRIOR TO THAT LAST DAY (WHICH MOST OF US DON'T GET THE BENEFIT OF KNOWING WHEN THAT LAST DAY IS, ANYWAY?)
